

To Whom it May Concern,

Molly is a fantastic vocal coach. I've worked with professional coaches before, and they most certainly helped, but Molly has a great way of saying things the way that I understand them. She understands the anatomy of the instrument and knows that I don't quite grasp it, and through that she has the ability to word her ideas in a way that I can relate to. She is also very proficient in diagnosing what challenges I am facing and what I need to change to be able sing safer and with a better tone. Students can benefit greatly from learning with Molly, she knows how to train a voice.

Sincerely,

Cade Peirce
